

The Federal Communications Commission

Dear The Federal Communications Commission,

I do not want to pay more for my telephone service! I urge you to reject a flat fee proposal that would change how contributions are made to the Universal Service Fund. I am concerned that this proposal could make my current service unaffordable.

Under the flat fee proposal you are considering, people who make few long distance calls would pay the same as people or businesses that make many calls. In other words, low-volume and primarily residential customers would bear the same universal service fund burden as a high-volume residential or business customers. This is unfair!

I use my wireless phone for safety, security and convenience. I don't want to lose these benefits so that big businesses can pay less than their fair share. I urge you to reject the proposal to move the USF collection system to a flat-fee. Why is it that we should have to pay more for our services when we are the ones who live on limited incomes to support our families? When will it stop? If I recall correctly, Income Tax was supposed to be temporary at one time and that people who had over a certain number of kids did not have to pay it. Times have changed and not for the better! With so many perverts and wierdos around, your cell phone is a source of protection. Don't take it away by raising costs! We, as consumers, pay too much now for everything else!

Keep the USF Fair!

Sincerely,

Bunny Gannon
